Corpus

Development of this publication has made use of the Cambridge English Corpus (CEC). The CEC is a multi-billion word computer database of contemporary spoken and written English. It includes British English, American English and other varieties of English. It also includes the Cambridge Learner Corpus, developed in collaboration with the University of Cambridge ESOL Examinations. Cambridge University Press has built up the CEC to provide evidence about language use that helps to produce better language teaching materials.

English Profile

Cambridge dictionaries are the world's most widely used dictionaries for learners of English. The dictionaries are available in print and online at dictionary.cambridge.org. Copyright © Cambridge University Press, reproduced with permission.

Cambridge Dictionaries

This product is informed by the English Vocabulary Profile, built as part of English Profile, a Council of Europe-endorsed research programme that is providing detailed information about the language that learners of English know and use at each level of the Common European Framework of Reference (CEFR). The English Vocabulary Profile is an online resource which contains a fully searchable listing of words and phrases in English at each level of the CEFR. Based on extensive analysis of word frequency and real learner language use, it offers the most reliable information available at both word and sense level. For more information, please visit www.englishprofile.org
